

The GRAPHIC'S SCHOOL COLUMN

Conducted by DR. HENRY E. HEIN
New York High School Principal

Here is a good test of your child's attention to school instruction and of his ability to carry over what has been taught.

Teachers throughout the city have been instructed to tell their pupils about our water supply, impressing upon them the necessity for prevention of waste.

Dr. H. E. Hein Has your child spoken to you about it? Has he examined the faucets in your home? He was told to do so and to report all leaky faucets to the janitor. If he has failed to mention "water supply" at home, find out why. It may give you a clue to his habitual attitude in school.

Dr. Wilhelm Dorner, supervisor of commercial education in Westphalia, Germany, has visited a number of our schools for ideas to take back home. He was particularly impressed by the emphasis placed by us upon physical education and on activities beyond the routine work of the classroom. Teachers give hours of their unpaid time to these extra-curricular State Engineer and Surveyor Roy G. Finch prepared a special pamphlet telling the story of the New York State canals. Copies were distributed to the schools for use by teachers of history and geography in connection with the recent celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Erie Canal.

Professional humorists are always picturing messenger boys to us as sound asleep. However, 950 of them are able to keep awake at night, studying electric wiring, typewriting, and office practice in the Western Union Boys' School at 935 Broadway. The school is an annex of the Central Commercial Continuation School.

Robert E. Simon, president of the United Parents' Association, says: "It is the duty of organized parenthood in New York city to secure high grade teachers for the public schools. The budget for the New York schools for the coming year will probably exceed $100,000,000. We should know how these public funds are being administered."

What are YOU doing about it? What are YOU GOING TO DO about it?

YOUR MONEY, YOUR SCHOOLS, YOUR CHILDREN—Aren't you interested?

WRITE YOUR VIEWS TO THE SCHOOL EDITOR.

Do you know that every Saturday and Sunday afternoon there is a story hour for children in the lecture hall of the Metropolitan Museum of Art?

Miss Anna Curtis Chandler is in charge. She will appear in appropriate costume on each occasion and will illustrate her talk by stereopticon slides and motion pictures. The story hour begins, on both Saturday and Sunday, at 1.45 p. m. On Sunday afternoons there is a repetition at 2.45. All boys and girls and the adults accompanying them are welcome.

In the future New York city classrooms will be painted in soft, soothing, restful tones of gray. This applies not only to new buildings, but to any individual room that requires redecoration. At present many rooms are done in disagreeable browns, ugly yellows or glaring whites.

LUTHERAN PILGRIMAGE

Thousands of Lutherans from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut will make a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon today to attend the harvest and ball festival of the Warburg Orphans' Farm School.

'Look and Live!' Motto In Safe Streets Campaign

It's a slogan submitted by W. Kelley, of 34 Ogden St., Trenton, N. J., in The GRAPHIC'S campaign for safety of the streets.

But eleven days more remain in The GRAPHIC'S search for a 150-word letter that will best outline a plan to reduce the deaths and broken limbs resulting from automobile accidents.

For this letter the GRAPHIC will pay $100.

Address your letter to Automobile Editor, the GRAPHIC, 25 City Hall Place. Also include make and license number of your car. But car or no car, send in YOUR plan to minimize the death toll. It may bring you $100.

Rewards for Convictions

"Rewards should be given for information leading to conviction of drivers who knowingly break the law," is part of the plan of George W. Armstrong of 1693 49th Street, Brooklyn, in the effort to curb and check the traffic peril.

A few of the splendid suggestions taken at random from the country-wide mail today are:

"One hundred per cent. co-operation and consideration upon the part of walker and driver."—Arthur K. Birnbaum, 1107 Gerard Avenue, The Bronx.

"Hold all trucks from 2½ to 7½ tons down to 20 miles an hour by installing governors."—Frank C. De Marinis, 527,73d St., Brooklyn.

"Keep your eyes and ears open and never cross in the middle of the street."—T. P. Teale, 745 Classon Avenue, Brooklyn.

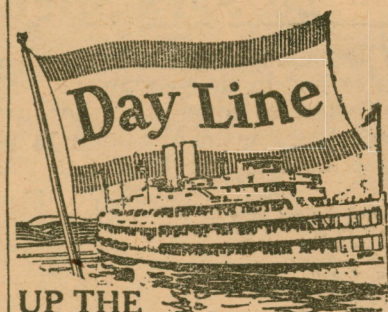

"Pay attention to your driving—careful—slow down—STOP."—Joseph Nathan, 1082 President St., Brooklyn.

"New York's streets are cluttered up with every obstruction known to man."—Ed Hunter, 324 West 84th St.

"Make jaywalking unlawful."—Otto Gladstone, 300 West 107th St.

"Keep auto speed down to that of a horse."—O. E. Garmert, 120 West 63d St.

$100 for some one! Eleven days more. Why not YOU?

Charge Sleuth Aided in Killing

Prosecutor Francis Bergen to attempt to have this done.

Simpson said today that his investigators have not yet met with success in their search for the middle-aged French woman who is said to have rented two rooms in a New York apartment to Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills for a love nest seven months prior to their deaths.

In a signed statement issued last night, defense counsel charged that the prosecution was attempting to poison public opinion to the extent that no trial conducted in accordance with rules of evidence can bring an acquittal.

They accused Simpson of newspaper propaganda and of assailing the integrity of the living and dead with impudent and malicious methods.
